Office Manager 2010 In Office Manager 2010, each service may have its own Policies and Rules specific to that service. Where Office Manager can be used to enforce these Policies and Rules, in some cases this cannot be done. For example, a Policy can be added that relates to a particular service such as Mail Setup Wizard. However, this Policy may not be applied to all services. Rather, it may only be applied to a particular service that is identified in the Service Module. Note that many of the other Policy editor tools cannot be used for creating Service Policies. Instead, the specific Service Module must be used to create the Service Policy. Further, both the new Compliance Manager tool and the new Conflict Manager tool, both of which are described in the next section of this chapter, are also 6a5afdab4c
