A: This error comes from adding JavaFX to the project. JavaFX and its JAR files are not designed to be used directly with Android ( You should add JavaFX to your project to use it in your application. A: I had the same issue with Android Studio, fixed it by downloading the latest version of SDK from here: Solution is not mentioned in the below link or description on the developer page: #!/bin/bash # SPDX-License-Identifier: GPL-2.0-only # This test doesn't really test anything. The call came at a session of the World Jewish Congress in Hamburg in which notable leaders from the Jewish world gathered to discuss how the flow of information about Israel can be increased and to find ways to battle the growing anti-Israel sentiment. "Israel is far too important a country to leave in the hands of the foreign press," said Dr. Norman Finkelstein, a prominent US academic in the lecture hall at the Hamburg Congress of the World Jewish Congress. "Rather than battle the foreign press, I'd like to create a dialogue," he said. "Be tough, be strong, but be open," enthused World Jewish Congress Secretary-General Ronald Lauder. "Think about the Israeli story. Look at the Israelis. Don't put Israel in a battlefield." Speaking about the post-election protests, Lauder noted that Israel is the only democracy in the Middle East and the only one which has survived the test of time. "The resistance in the West Bank today is an expression of the value we have given the Jewish state," he said. The meeting was addressed by Michael Wessel of the German-Jewish newspaper, Neue-Presse and by Douglas Krasner of the Jewish Agency. Krasner recalled his own experience as a member of the delegation to the post-Katrina convention in New Orleans, the WJC's central conclave in which leaders of the Jewish world discussed problems in Israel. "We were in New Orleans and I spent a lot of time in 570a42141b
